Summary Statement

Congress established important oversight responsibilities for HUD under Title XIII of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 (P.L. 102-550). The short title for this legislation is the Federal Housing Enterprises Financial Safety and Soundness Act of 1992 (FHEFSSA). FHEFSSA reaffirmed the Secretary's general regulatory authority over two housing Government-Sponsored Enterprises (GSEs), Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, to ensure the GSEs' compliance with their charter purposes. FHEFSSA also mandated certain specific responsibilities, including:

- Setting the levels of Congressionally mandated housing goals that require the GSEs to purchase mortgages made to low- and moderate-income families, mortgages on properties located in underserved areas, and mortgages made to very low-income families and low-income families in low-income areas, including mortgages on multifamily properties;
- Monitoring and enforcing the GSEs' performance in meeting the housing goals;
- Reviewing requests for new program approval submitted by the GSEs;
- Prohibiting discrimination in the GSEs' mortgage purchase activities and reviewing and commenting on their underwriting guidelines; and
- Establishing a public use database on the GSEs' mortgage purchases.

Since enactment of FHEFSSA, the Department has developed an oversight program that carries out these mandates. Specifically, the Department regularly analyzes and reports on the GSEs' housing goal performance, housing needs, the marketplace, and the appropriateness of housing goal levels; reviews new GSE activities and makes determinations about their new program implications; reviews the GSEs' underwriting guidelines, including automated underwriting practices, for their fair lending implications; manages performance and risk assessment reviews to verify the accuracy and integrity of data provided by the GSEs to the Department; performs special studies and analyses regarding the GSEs' businesses and their performance in leading the market for affordable lending; creates new, and revises existing, GSE reporting requirements as necessary to facilitate informed oversight; and issues new regulations as needed. The Department also issues letters and orders regarding its determinations for non-proprietary treatment of GSE mortgage loan data and maintains the GSE public use database.

Under the provisions of P.L. 102-550, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac are assessed for the costs of their financial safety and soundness regulation by the Director of the Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO). The Director of OFHEO is authorized to collect annual assessments from the GSEs to provide for OFHEO's costs and expenses, but the GSEs are not currently assessed for the Department's costs of regulation. Upon enactment of the proposal announced by the Secretaries of the Departments of Housing and Urban Development and the Treasury on September 10, 2003 and October 16, 2003, it is expected that the cost of HUD's responsibilities under the Federal Housing Enterprise Safety and Soundness Act of 1992 and amendments as proposed, would be assessed on the Government-sponsored enterprises (GSEs) Fannie and Freddie Mac. It is expected that the cost of HUD's responsibilities under the Federal Housing Enterprise Safety and Soundness Act of 1992 and amendments as proposed, would be assessed on the GSEs--Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. These responsibilities include the establishment and enforcement of affordable housing goals for the GSEs, ensuring GSE compliance with fair housing laws, and providing consultation to the safety and soundness regulator on the GSEs' new activities. The cost of these activities is expected to be $6,250,000 for 2005.
