Summary Statement

No fiscal year 2011 appropriation is requested for the Rural Housing and Economic Development (RHED) program. The RHED program was created to encourage new innovative approaches to serving the housing and economic development needs of the nations rural communities. The needs of America's rural communities will be addressed through the state Community Development Block Grant program, the HOME program, and especially through the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). The CDBG, HOME and USDA portfolio of Rural Housing and Economic Development Grant and loan program vastly exceed RHED in term of programs and services provided to America's rural communities.
