The City of Philadelphia Department of Public Health will collaborate with the National Nursing Centers Consortium and the University City Science Center to provide hazard assessments in 200 homes and remediation services in 100 homes in a high risk area of North Philadelphia, including the North Central and American Street Empowerment Zones. HomeSafe outreach workers will perform a home assessment for moisture, lead contamination, asthma triggers, carbon monoxide and mold at the beginning of the project and repeated 9 months after interventions have been performed.
