It's No Con – Prison Laborers Due Pay ...

While conducting monitoring reviews, we frequently see prison laborers doing work on HUD-funded projects. Agencies may be using prison labor as a method to reduce costs and help prisoners meet mandatory work requirements while guests of the State or the County.

There is no prohibition against the use of prison inmate labor on maintenance or construction work. At the same time, there is no exemption from the payment of Federal prevailing wage rates to prison inmate laborers or mechanics. However, the OLR staff finds that local agencies do not pay most inmates for the mandatory work required of them. This is a violation of Federal prevailing wage requirements.

The good news is that there are exemptions to these requirements. All of our client agencies should work closely with their OLR representative to determine eligibility. One exemption is based on the use of bona fide "volunteers." One would not normally consider prisoners to be volunteers. Indeed, both the United States Housing Act and the Housing and Community Development Act state that prison inmates shall not be considered "volunteers" based solely on their status as inmates. However, there are limited circumstances under which a prison inmate may be considered a "volunteer" under the exemptions provided by the aforementioned Acts.

The Federal Bureau of Prisons (BOP) implements a variety of Federal prison inmate work release programs including Short Term Community Based Projects. Inmates apply for participation privileges and volunteer status. Inasmuch as another Federal agency (i.e., BOP) will have already designated these individuals as "volunteers" for its own purposes, we have determined that such inmates may likewise be considered volunteers for the purposes of the prevailing wage exemption provisions. Where the use of non-Federal prison inmate "volunteers" is proposed under a State or local program, a proposal must be submitted to the appropriate OLR staff. The proposal must include a full description of the program(s), and intended use and supervision of the inmates.

Lastly, there may be instances where persons convicted of certain offenses may be offered a choice of punishments during their sentencing phase. These choices may include community service at a public housing development or other sites and may involve work that is covered by Federal prevailing wage requirements. Where such individuals indicate community service as their sentence of choice, they may also be considered volunteers and exempt from prevailing wage requirements. In such cases, a request for approval must be submitted to the appropriate OLR staff. The request must include a written statement from an officer of the Court that the individual has freely chosen a sentence of community service indicating the number of hours, location and any other stipulations on such service. In all cases where prison inmate labor is utilized under the volunteer provisions named above, the responsible agency and/or contractor must follow the guidance and record keeping requirements of 24 CFR Part 70 and Notice 92-01-SL.

HUD and Ad Council Launch Campaign to Fight Evacuee Discrimination

Hurricanes Don't Discriminate!

Don't let housing discrimination stop you from rebuilding your life!

For More Information or to Report
Housing Discrimination
Call HUD at 1-800-669-9777
TTY 1-800-927-9275
or Visit www.hud.gov/fairhousing

It is illegal to deny housing to anyone because of their race, color, national origin, religion, sex, disability, or familial status (families with children).

“There is hope because there is help”

In the wake of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita, hundreds of thousands of families are working to put their lives back together, and relocation is a large part of that effort. Many of these hurricane victims will immediately experience some form of discrimination during their search for new housing.

The Federal Fair Housing Act was signed over 36 years ago, making housing discrimination illegal. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Ad Council have launched a National Campaign designed to increase recognition of fair housing rights and reporting of housing discrimination by making hurricane evacuees aware of housing laws. Those who have witnessed or experienced discrimination are encouraged to report it by calling HUD at 1-(800) 669-9777 or TTY 1-800-927-9275 or visiting www.hud.gov. By making hurricane victims aware of housing discrimination, we can empower them to report it and help stop it.

Atlanta Staff Spotlight: Jennifer Kauntz

Jennifer Kauntz, (pronounced Counts) works in the Region IV Office of Labor Relations in the Jacksonville Field Office. Jennifer came to HUD in November 2002 after working as a Human Resource Specialist with the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

A graduate of the University of Alaska Fairbanks, she earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Natural Resources Management. While she would have liked to work in the National Parks or with the U.S. Forest Service, providing for her daughter, who was in elementary school at the time, took precedence. She returned home to Colorado where her daughter could attend a school for the deaf and she could find stable, secure, year-round employment. To her great fortune, she began working for the Bureau of Prisons shortly after arriving in Colorado. Jennifer decided to further her education, and in the same year of her daughter's graduation from high school, she earned her Masters Degree in Organizational Management from the University of Phoenix. Jennifer's daughter is now a senior at Gallaudet University in Washington, D.C.

Jennifer loves spending time with her husband, family and friends, and two dogs. She enjoys the outdoors, taking walks, traveling, and reading. For a year and a half, Jennifer volunteered as a Court Appointed Special Advocate in Georgia, helping children removed from their homes due to abuse and neglect, reunite with their families, or find appropriate homes. She is currently awaiting hospice training and looking forward to this new learning experience.

Jennifer will explore another new experience, albeit on familiar grounds, as she returns to Denver this spring. Effective March 20th, she will begin work at the Denver OLR, where she will work as the Region VIII OLR multi-family coordinator, and will also have responsibilities for the oversight of tribes in the Region and Nebraska.

Since joining the Atlanta family, Jennifer has been a valuable member of our team and has even made significant contributions to national OLR policy and training programs.

For the time being, Region VIII is still under Dondra Merrell's direction, so Jennifer's transfer remains "in the family." She will wrap up her Georgia and Florida assignments as she makes her transition to Denver.

New FHA Resource Center Up and Running

HUD recently selected Electronic Consulting Services, Inc. (ECS) to operate and manage the FHA's Office of Single Family Housing Client Management Center (CMC).

This center, also known as the FHA Resource Center, began operations February 1, 2006, and will handle approximately one million contacts each year from the general public, real estate professionals, and financial service providers. The contractor will be answering inquiries about FHA programs and processes, collecting appropriate data, and monitoring the quality of service.

All inquiries from consumers concerning single-family FHA programs will be routed to the FHA Resource Center so HUD can assure that the callers receive the latest and most accurate information.

Key contact information is as follows:

For telephone contacts: the new toll-free number, 1-800-CALLFHA (800-225-5342).

For email: use hud@custhelp.com

For TDD/TDY: use 1-877-TDD2HUD (1-877-833-2483)

Certain FHA contacts will not change. The following Single Family Points of Contact are still active, and our clients may continue to use them for the appropriate topics:

National Servicing Center
 FHA Mortgage Servicing or Loss Mitigation Issues (877) 622-8525
 MIP Refund Center
 Mortgage Insurance Refund Information (888) 697-6967.

Wage Decision Source— The official Web site for obtaining Davis-Bacon wage decisions is <http://www.wdol.gov>.

Davis-Bacon & Disaster

Relatively few contracts were affected by the brief suspension of Davis-Bacon requirements in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida. Please remember your obligation to enforce prevailing wage requirements remains very much alive! This includes repairs using insurance proceeds.

It is with great pleasure that I bring you greetings on behalf of the entire HUD Region IV staff. I take pride in the opportunity to serve our customers in the Region and to work with such a talented staff.

We share a commitment to advancing the Administration's and the Secretary's goals and initiatives, including increasing homeownership, expanding affordable housing free from discrimination, ensuring equal opportunity in the administration of the Department programs, and embracing high standards of ethics, accountability and customer service. This past fall and winter we have taken on the additional responsibility of assisting the Gulf Coast communities in their disaster recovery efforts. We are thankful for partnerships we have built with local and state governments and faith-based and community organizations. Those relationships have allowed our diminishing resources to be stretched even farther. As we work to strengthen those ties, our customers and the people they serve will share a brighter future..

Editor's Note: Mayor Young was named Regional Director for HUD's Region IV in June 2005. Prior to joining HUD, he was Mayor of the consolidated government of Augusta-Richmond County, Georgia. mand in Vietnam where he was twice awarded the Joint Service Commendation Medal.
