

DETAILS OF HUD DRUG ELIMINATION GRANTS FOR INDIAN TRIBES AND TRIBALLY DESIGNATED HOUSING AUTHORITIES

ALASKA

- North Pacific Rim Housing Authority: $141,600 in conjunction with the Tribe's alcohol and drug awareness program which provides prevention, intervention and educational activities.
- Kodiak Island Housing Authority: $184,800 for recreational and educational activities geared to the youth in the community.
- Bristol Bay Housing Authority: $184,800 to focus on preventative recreational and cultural activities. The program will provide activities in 18 Bristol Bay villages, serving a population of more than 6,000.
- Cook Inlet Housing Authority: $274,200 to fund the Boys and Girls Club of Greater Anchorage and the Boys and Girls Club of the Kenai Peninsula to continue crime prevention and drug elimination activities in the south central Alaska communities of Tyonek, Seldovia and Anchorage. Club activities include the SMART Moves Program, career and family programs.
- Tlingit-Haida Regional Housing Authority: $309,053 to continue support of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Juneau, introduce youth in its 13 communities to "Building Assets Helping Kids to Succeed—Alaskan Style" and introduce youth to UNITY and the Youth Leadership-Housing Institute.
- Calista Corporation: $695,760 to support a youth court system and for a culture camp for youth conducted by the elders in the community.

ARIZONA

- Salt River Community Housing Division: $282,600 to address the areas of drug and crime prevention, intervention, education, referral and treatment. This will be accomplished through a partnership with tribal and non-tribal organizations. The community will benefit as members reach their full potential, becoming productive, successful adults.
- San Carlos Housing Authority: $389,292 to establish a Boys & Girls Club which will offer comprehensive recreation, evening tutoring, a library, drug education and individual/family counseling. The plan includes increased security, a volunteer program and networking through an information and referral system. While the project targets families and youth in and around housing authority developments, it will benefit the tribe as a whole.
- Gila River Housing Authority: $633,000 to establish ongoing relationships with Federal, state and local law enforcement agencies; empowering residents; and increasing the quality of life for residents. The grant will support drug prevention and intervention programs, designed by residents, housing authority staff and other community partners to incorporate a cultural and traditional approach.

- Navajo Nation: $3 million to establish and operate 10 additional Boys & Girls Club facilities throughout the Navajo reservation. The clubs will offer prevention activities including sports, educational programs including tutoring and computer classes and cultural programs including a foster-grandparent program.
- White Mountain Apache Housing Authority: $748,800 to increase training and resources available to the White Mountain Apache Police Department to successfully combat crime in Whiteriver and other tribal housing developments and support tribal DARE and GREAT drug and gang prevention programs for children and youths.

CALIFORNIA

- Fort Independence Tribe: $25,000 to network with the Community Action for Drug-Free Youth Coalition to implement a drug prevention program including public information and a weekend adventure series with support counseling. Programming will serve about 70 residents and link with a recently awarded ROSS grant.
- Round Valley Indian Housing Authority: $68,400 to develop an after school program which will involve housing authority youth (grades 4-11) and their families in academic, recreational, cultural, health and substance resistive activities led by local elders, tribal members and others. Adolescent development, youth leadership and self-esteem exercises will be interwoven through activities.
- All Mission Indian Housing Authority: $296,400 to reduce/eliminate drug use, drug-related crime and associated problems in and around the housing authority's developments. In addition to substance abuse prevention services, the housing authority will offer services to deal with problems related to drugs such as high unemployment, school drop-out rates, limited cultural and recreational alternatives, domestic violence, family dysfunction and limited access to model drug treatment programs.

COLORADO

- Southern Ute Housing Authority: $111,329 to provide a comprehensive set of activities to reduce drug-related crime in housing authority units. The program coordinates multi-agency treatment activities; reaches out to all resident families; provides substance-free recreational activities in a research-based way; supports academic achievement through tutoring and academic orientation; increases the effective parenting through research-based programming; and changes local values and norms through "social norms marketing" and Native American spiritual practice.

FLORIDA

- Seminole Tribe of Florida: $280,200 to develop a comprehensive security and prevention-based approach to reduce/eliminate drug-related crime in five reservation communities (Hollywood, Big Cypress, Tampa, Imokalee and Brighton). Tribal Law Enforcement will expand their drug investigation with state-of-the-art surveillance and communications equipment. The Tribal Recreation Department will combine cultural, educational and recreational activities to assist youth and adults in developing effective personal and interpersonal skills.

IDAHO

- Nez Perce Tribal Housing Authority: $172,200 to support the Nez Perce Boys & Girls Club, started in 1998 with Drug Elimination funds. The housing authority has also joined forces with the Tribal Police Department to implement other approaches to combat crime and substance abuse, including a K-9 Officer and regular crime prevention workshops. Funding will also support Nez Perce horse-culture activities, a collaboration of the Chief Joseph Foundation, the Appaloosa Horse Club, the housing authority, Boys & Girls Club and the Nez Perce families.

MICHIGAN

- Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians: $36,000 to purchase communications and related equipment for voluntary tenant patrols and to reimburse local law enforcement agencies for additional security and protective services above baseline. These activities, designed to reduce drug abuse and associated crimes, involve the residents of tribal housing, area law enforcement agencies and tribal substance abuse services.
- Bay Mills Indian Community Housing Authority: $123,000 to initiate youth programs that will offer culturally appropriate leisure and physical activities for youth in and around this community as a diversion to crime and substance abuse. The program will also provide for the installation of security lighting in the community's newest playground/recreation area as a crime prevention measure. A neighborhood watch program will deter crime and signal community awareness and cooperation.
- Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians: $259,200 to address drug abuse and related crime on or near tribal housing sites through the continued development of prevention programs. They will provide positive cultural, recreational and prevention education activities emphasizing extended family participation, community ownership and community development as a means of fostering healthy lifestyles.

MINNESOTA

- Mille Lacs Band of Ojibwe Reservation Housing Authority: $81,000 to implement a reservation-wide comprehensive drug prevention and intervention program. This program, consisting of SMART Moves, Street SMART and youth development programs, is designed to reduce and ultimately eliminate alcohol and drug abuse and related crimes. These culturally sensitive programs will be focused on at-risk American Indian young people in three districts.
- White Earth Reservation Tribal Council: $220,800 to provide youth leadership and life skills development to 100 Indian housing youth. Recreational, cultural and educational activities will also be provided for 1,000 youth of the White Earth Reservation. This program will provide positive alternatives to drug use, gangs and criminal activity in the housing developments on the Reservation.
- Leech Lake Housing Authority: $282,000 to help communities build strong families and decrease drug-related crime in Indian housing communities. Program partners include Leech Lake Department of Public Safety, Boys & Girls Club, School District, Headstart, Health Division, Social Services and Education Division. The program will use existing resources and develop additional resources to promote collaborative efforts to change attitudes and behaviors of at-risk children and families.
- Red Lake Reservation Housing Authority: $286,200 to support a comprehensive drug elimination strategy aimed to provide youth with structured sports, cultural, educational and recreational activities to involve youth with alternatives to drugs and drug-related crime.

MISSISSIPPI

- Choctaw Housing Authority: $520,200 to expand prevention, intervention and treatment facilities and programs for all age groups to the seven Choctaw communities. The program will extend the range of drug elimination programs in all age groups and continue to strengthen linkages between reservation drug and alcohol programs, law enforcement and the judicial system.

MONTANA

- Chippewa Cree Housing Authority: $309,000 to address drug-related crime in the four targeted low-income sites on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation. The project will physically improve these areas, enhancing security and reconfiguring common areas to discourage drug-related crimes in these housing developments. The program will also implement a Youth Sports component for youth between the ages of 5-21.

- Salish and Kootenai Housing Authority: $395,400 to expand and continue activities in designated housing communities that combat drug-related criminal activity throughout the Flathead Reservation. The housing authority will provide on-going parenting/family support programs, including substance abuse prevention, intervention and referral. It will provide youth leadership, recreational and cultural programs.
- Blackfeet Housing: $694,200 to develop a comprehensive, prevention-based approach to reduce and eliminate drug-related crimes and violence in reservation housing developments. The program will work with a variety of partners to promote a positive, healthy lifestyle through traditional, cultural and recreational activities.

NORTH CAROLINA

- Qualla Housing Authority: $552,600 to employ security personnel for additional security services and conduct drug prevention activities which include educational and vocational opportunities, family events, sports programs and cultural awareness workshops.

NORTH DAKOTA

- Fort Berthold Housing Authority: $404,400 to continue the Housing Authority's I-KI-Pi Drug Elimination Program which is a youth substance abuse prevention program in existence since 1993. Educational, cultural and recreational activities stress the importance of a drug-free lifestyle in an interesting and culturally relevant manner. The program also operates The Three Tribes Youth Drop-In Center. It will expand the program with a Community Youth Development component.

NEW MEXICO

- Mescalero Apache Housing Authority: $207,600 to support four major programs: a school prevention education program; parenting/family classes; an after-school program; and activities to reduce/eliminate the use of drugs. The target group will consist of youth, adults and families. These activities have been designed together by housing authority staff, residents and community partners.

NEVADA

- Reno Sparks Indian Colony Tribal Council: $104,570 to install additional light and light poles, motion lights and purchase a security camera. These needed improvements will prove an effective tool in reducing vandalism, graffiti, alcohol and substance abuse and youth crimes occurring within the colony boundaries.
- Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe: $137,830 to provide positive activities to reduce alcohol/drug use and dependence among the more than 700 juveniles living on the reservation. This project will provide a variety of activities through tournaments and sports leagues in coordination with other northern Nevada tribes.

OKLAHOMA

- Kaw Tribal Housing Authority: $70,200 will be used in a comprehensive security and preventive-based approach to reduce/eliminate drug-related crime. Tribal police will offer extra security throughout the year and have installed additional lighting and a security system in the park and surrounding area.
- Housing Authority of the Peoria Tribe of Indians: $259,200 to provide drug education materials, educational prevention activities, an after school computer lab, and tutoring for youth at risk of dropping out of school.
- Comanche Nation: $332,400 to provide additional law enforcement, prevention activities, physical improvements and the employment of an investigator. Some 1,000 individuals will be served directly by this program.
- Absentee Shawnee Housing Authority: $436,200 to operate in community centers located near residents that will provide drug prevention activities and education, home-based drug treatment, cultural and educational activities, alternative academic and vocational training, crime prevention activities, GED preparation and testing services, access to computer education physical improvements to enhance safety.
- Muscogee Creek Nation of OK: $560,277 to provide prevention, intervention, treatment, after-care and community policing activities.
- Chickasaw Nation Division of Housing: $937,040 to provide services in the areas of prevention/intervention and criminal justice. This program uses comprehensive security services, community mobilization, family skills development, educational services, recreational and cultural activities, after school activities, mentoring, sports and community cohesiveness.
- Housing Authority of the Choctaw Nation: $1,107,600 to enhance and expand efforts that began in 1998 with Project Horizon, which assist residents in five communities through partnerships with organizations such as the Boys and Girls Club of America.
- Housing Authority of the Cherokee Nation of OK: $1,607,840 will be used in their drug elimination program to continue min-grants for resident organizations to develop and deliver drug prevention programs and activities; operate seven computer literacy centers; implement a peer tutoring program, cultural, and youth sports activities; make physical improvements to enhance security; and continue a comprehensive case management services program.

OREGON

- Warm Springs Housing Authority: $121,800 to support, in part, a Boys and Girls Club on the Reservation. Boys and Girls Clubs offer recreational, educational, leadership, and life skills activities and positive role modeling in a safe environment.

SOUTH DAKOTA

- Yankton Sioux Tribal Housing Authority: $187,700 to expand housing authority security officer services program, to provide supervision for organized youth activities, and to provide additional drug prevention activities for youth and their parents.
- Sisseton Wahpeton Housing Authority: $371,400 to implement a comprehensive drug abuse prevention and educational project for families and especially Indian youth. It shall also provide for a housing community security guard network to assure safe neighborhoods for families and children. The program also includes coordination between State and county law enforcement agencies to assure drug-free environments.
- Cheyenne River Housing Authority: $540,600 to provide innovative community-based solutions to respond to increasing juvenile drug-related crimes in CRHA housing areas. The program will provide a Lakota-oriented leadership training program to 250 youth on the reservation.
- Rosebud Sioux Tribe: $653,400 to offer youth comprehensive services, providing the resources and opportunities to enable them to thrive culturally, spiritually, physically, and economically on the reservation. This effort will expand the existing youth alcohol treatment program to include a treatment facility, combine all youth programs “under one-roof” with the one-stop Youth Advocacy Center.
- Oglala Sioux Lakota Housing Authority: $791,960 for a comprehensive effort to eliminate drugs on the Pine Ridge Reservation through prevention and improved security measures. Primary activities include crime prevention education; parental education; Red Road and GONA training; youth activities, including a youth conference and youth council; neighborhood watches and tenant patrols. The program services over 6,000 Indian housing families and impacts 20,000 people in and around Pine Ridge Reservation.

WASHINGTON

- Quileute Housing Authority: $39,000 to establish the “Whole Village” Drug Elimination Program which will provide drug abuse prevention, intervention, and support services for the 450 residents of the Quileute Reservation.
- Suquamish Tribe: $43,200 to implement a youth substance abuse intensive outpatient treatment program. This will increase the number of youth and families who may be treated for drug addictions and consequently, reduce the number of drug-related crimes in the Suquamish, Sackman, Sistersky, and Eaglemere Housing Developments.

- Spokane Indian Housing Authority: $174,600 to enhance services outlined in NAHASDA Indian Housing Plan, serving the 1,500 residents of the Spokane Indian Reservation. Drug deterrents include the hiring of security personnel and establishment of neighborhood watch/resident patrol.
- Lummi Nation: $198,549 to develop a local Boys and Girls Club to compliment existing tribal efforts to promote healthy child development for all Indian youth living on or near the Lummi Indian Reservation.

WISCONSIN

- Stockbridge-Munsee Community: $57,600 to combine increased law enforcement services with prevention and treatment programs to eliminate drugs from Indian housing areas on the Reservation.
- Ho Chunk Housing Authority: $106,800 to reduce drug abuse and drug-related crime through string community security and drug abuse prevention education and alternative activities in target developments. Activities include summer day camps for HCHA 7-11 year-olds, a series of anti-drug workshops and volley ball competitions.
- Lac Du Flambeau Chippewa Housing Authority: $196,200 to implement a comprehensive, coordinated, and developmental approach to impact the multigenerational cycle of problems that lead to drug use and crime on the Lac Du Flambeau Reservation. This plan includes culture, academics, sports, advisory councils, and physical improvements to enhance safety.
- Lac Courte Oreilles Housing Authority: $271,200 to support the Boys and Girls Club of Lac Courte Oreilles. Club programs impact the lives of youth on the reservation and direct them away from drugs and alcohol abuse and related criminal activity.
- Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin: $291,600 to serve 800 youth, a majority of whom reside in the Menominee Housing Developments. The Suppression Objective, made possible through partnership with the Menominee Tribal Police Department will identify and decrease peak ordinance violations by 5%.

WYOMING

- Northern Arapaho Tribal Housing: $232,200 will be used through a community-based collaborative approach using culturally appropriate strategies, the housing authority will implement a Drug Elimination program to curtail the use of drugs and the associated crimes in and around NATH units.