Mr. Dan McCarthy
Executive Director
Albany Housing Authority

Dear Mr. McCarthy:

Darton College is located less than 3 miles from both McIntosh Homes as well as Downtown Albany. For the past 44 years, Darton has functioned as one of Albany’s key institutions and is very interested in the City’s continued improvement. The vibrancy of Downtown Albany and the viability of Albany’s affordable public housing options are topics of great interest to us.

Darton College enthusiastically supports the Albany Housing Authority’s application for an FY 2010 Choice Neighborhoods Planning Grant from HUD. In fact, we offer ourselves as key partners in the collaborative development of an eventual Choice Neighborhoods Transformation Plan.

The services we could provide in the development of the Transformation Plan include the following:

1) Conducting comprehensive needs assessments. These assessments would address neighborhood assets and needs, establishing baselines on which the Transformation Plan would be built. Darton College proposes to work closely with the Albany Housing Authority and its planning partners to design, administer, and analyze the results of three (3) subsets of needs assessments: People, Neighborhood, and Housing.

a) The assessment of human needs ("People") would begin early on, with an in-home assessment of the needs and the strengths of the McIntosh Homes resident body at the household level. These initial surveys would be prototypical, and would assist in the process of refining survey instruments and methodologies for assessing neighborhood residents' perceptions of needs to be addressed in the Transformation Plan. This enables the planning process to focus on the resident populations with the highest need. Note that Darton College is in the forefront of developing and testing the means to conduct real-time, personalized surveying (while protecting confidentiality);
b) Almost simultaneously, a set of measures would be devised aimed at assessing community assets and needs at the “Neighborhood” level. These include the developmental, commercial, recreational, physical and social arenas, as these relate to resident education, employment, health, mobility and safety. The measures would draw upon both existing data sources but also reflect in some cases newly-developed metrics and sources of measurement. They would help paint the picture of how well neighborhood assets currently support positive resident outcomes. Equally important, this assessment would describe existing deficiencies; and

c) The baseline assessment of Housing conditions would draw upon both existing HUD measures devised for its public and assisted housing portfolio (Real Estate Assessment Center or “REAC” inspections and the like) but also build upon measures of the quality of non-assisted housing such as that found in the U.S. Census, as well as that collected locally (housing code enforcement actions, condemnations, demolitions, and the like).

2) As an institution of higher learning, Darton College would endeavor to assist in developing a comprehensive set of measures (including patterns of disinvestment, access to key assets and institutions, gaps in neighborhood services and assets) but also in compiling the initial data as part of a capacity-building process aimed at ensuring these kinds of assessments inform future neighborhood planning initiatives in Albany.

3) The needs assessment process and the building of ongoing capacity must be implemented in the context of “metrics” that measure the intended outcomes of planning initiatives. The Transformation Plan will undoubtedly identify a number of initiatives aimed at bolstering the robustness and effectiveness of developmental, commercial, recreational, physical and social assets. But only when the right outcomes are envisioned and measured can the Albany community evaluate its efforts on an ongoing basis and make subsequent corrections and adjustments over time. We are prepared to devote considerable time and energy to this important aspect of the overall Transformation Planning process.

Please let us know if we can provide further information in support of the Albany Housing Authority FY 2010 Choice Neighborhoods Planning Grant application in support of the McIntosh Homes neighborhood and Downtown Albany. In the meantime, we look forward to a long and fruitful collaboration between our organizations aimed at the betterment of our community.

Sincerely,
